

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In some embodiments, an apparatus includes a substrate and a pair of signal traces formed on the substrate. The signal traces may be spaced apart from each other. The apparatus may also include a filler material on the substrate and between the signal
5 traces. The filler material may have a dielectric constant that is higher than a dielectric constant of a material of which the substrate is formed.